

YOUNG FOUNDATION INTERNSHIP: WINTER 2013

Project name: Care4Care

Description: Care4Care, the brainchild of Professor Heinz Wolff, is a game-changing solution to one of the most pressing challenges facing British society today: how to care for our ageing population now, and how to ensure that we will be cared for in the future. At a time of deep cuts and uncertainty over the future of our pensions, Care4Care looks to the value we put on mutuality and reciprocity.

The Care4Care internship gives an intern an active role in the beginning of a new project. From managing the website to contacting stakeholders and helping to run focus groups the role requires an outgoing and confident person. As it is a new venture everyday will be different, this allows our intern to have a prominent role within the small team.

We are looking for a confident self-starter who is interested in changing the world for the better.
